On last Wednesday morning, at eleven b'clock, the cadets of the W. M. A. assembled Excelsior is Good, for the first of a reries of competitive drills which are to decide to whom the drill medal will be awarded at the close of the school year. The novelty of these drills, together with the enthusiasm of the cadets over the lead the people back to the paths of passing a law which provides for the peace, etc. During the continuance of the panic stocks were easerly pressed the requirement is substantially and they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that section inconsistent with this view, and they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that section inconsistent with this view, and they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that they craim, by available moment, and consider all the bills before it, first rejecting every the military in general, added or such that the particular in the particular in the continuance of the cadets over the military in general, added or such that the particular in the part military in general, added very much to the lows: - The company forms and the drill bediscarding the bad or indifferent until a puts him at a terrible disadvantage.

On Wednesday morning the cadets went into the contest full of hope and excitementespecially the latter, each imagining his name | BOOTS AND SHOES. engraved on the beautiful drill medal, but each fearing at the same time that it might be the name of some one else. The opinion which generally prevailed among the students Bayles and Atkinson. It is hard to tell how
